Subject: Internship Completion Letter Dated: 8.09.2021

To Whomsoever it may Concern

This is to certify that Ayushi Dasgupta, a student at NIFT Kolkata, interned with Amoha, multi designer store and Label Pooja Singhal for a period of 8 Weeks starting from 25th June till 8th August 2021.

Ayushi came on board with fresh ideas and perspective. She is a keen learner as well as an open listener. She helped with the mood boards, design illustrations as well as print design ideas for the same. She understood the concepts well and what was being sought for in the collection.

We wish her all the best for the future in the Fashion and Design.

Regards,

Pooja Singhal

About Amoha & In-House Label Pooja Singhal

Founded in 2017, Amoha is the brainchild of Pooja Singhal who saw potential and a need for a multi-designer store in the west of Delhi. With most multi-designer outfits being situated in the other part of the city, she wanted to create a curated designer experience that showcases the exquisite culture rich and contemporary designer labels from across the country under one roof, Amoha.

Pooja Singhal has built Amoha around the philosophy of the soulful desires of the Modern Indian woman; who is equal parts rooted and contemporary, nostalgic and strong, practical and wild. Amoha toils and travels, in its pursuit to bring the ideal clothes closer to their ideal closet – making available authentic, culture rich, bespoke designs and styles ranging from the contemporary cuts of Mumbai to the colourful drapes of Jaipur to the intricate embroideries of Kolkata and Delhi, and more. The owner of " House of Amoha", Pooja Singhal, launched the first collection of her in-house brand "Pooja Singhal" in the festive season of 2020. she wanted to create an Indian brand, for the contemporary women, who love their roots and heritage.

The products: Pooja Singhal put forward her collection which showcased the fine blend of Indian craftsmanship and intricate details. She takes inspiration from various Indian themes and traditional crafts. Her collections are for festivals and celebrations.
All her collections are made from natural handwoven fabrics and are hand screen printed or hand embroidered.

The Collection

Theme & Concept

Shikargah is a term for motif designs that depict a hunting scene on fabric. While it is difficult to put a date on when Shikargah started being woven on Benarasi saris, they are believed to pre-date the British Raj. In the word "Shikargah", "Shikar" means hunting and "Gah" means place.

Shikargah has a very fine balance between the positive (the motif) and the negative spaces (blank spaces). The pattern is very evenly distributed with full coverage and a well-balanced design. From depicting the typical Lion and Deer hunt to showing King on an elephant and the Jungle birds.

The theme for the collection is “Mughal Shikar”. Prints are developed based on Shikargah. The theme board depicts the elements of the hunts and the paintings that depict such scenes.

Colour & Mood

The mood of the collection is derived from the "Warmth of India". It derives bright colours that we find in our country abundantly- in nature or spices or textiles. The colours match the essence of the brand and combines it with the mood and theme of the project. The silhouettes are inspired from the clothes of the Mughal period, with a touch of contemporary trends- resulting in ensemble collection for the modern Indian women.

Couture Range Development

Project Brief

The project aims to develop a mini range of couture garments, taking an inspiration from an appropriate theme, here, the legendary, Marilyn Monroe. A theme and inspiration board is to be developed along with another mood and colour board which guide the viewer to understand the essence that is expected out of the collection.

A client board is made to understand the requirements and develop the garments further.

A range is designed according to the above mentioned parameters. Two selected garments specification sheets are developed and are realised by pattern-making and detailed garment construction of a test-fit, followed by final garment.

Story

The project draws inspiration from the icon Marylin Monroe's fashion and style. The mood of classiness, elegance, boldness are expressed through colours textures and silhouettes.

We take reference from the bodycon silhouettes, deep/ plunge necklines, solid colours, the flowy dress, that were iconic of the actress-model.

Blonde Bombshell

Marilyn Monroe was an American actress, model and singer, born in 1936.

She is popularly called the Blonde Bombshell for being an emblematic icon during the 1950s and 60s sexual revolution.
She is an eternal fashion icon with many of her costumes and look from her films have become iconic. The most popular being her dress flying as she poses in “the seven year itch” movie.
Monroe ended her life in 1962 by overdosing herself.

About Shantipur

The handloom textiles constitute a timeless facet of the rich cultural heritage of India. As an economic activity, handloom sector occupies a place next only to agriculture in providing livelihood to the people. About 65.51 lakh persons are directly or indirectly engaged in weaving and as- sociated activities in the handloom sector. The element of art and craft present in Indian handlooms makes it a potential sector for the upper segments of the market, both domestic as well as abroad . However, the sector is beset with manifold problems such as obsolete technologies, unorganized production systems, low productivity, inadequate working capital, conventional product range, weak marketing link, overall stagnation of production and sales and above all, competition from power looms and mill sector. In spite of all these constraints, hand- loom forms a precious part of the generational legacy and exemplifies the richness and diversity of our country and the artistry of the weavers. Stats: About 65.51 lakh persons are directly or indirectly engaged in weaving and as- sociated activities in the handloom sector. As estimated, about 84% of total handlooms in the world are in India.

Location: Shantipur is a municipal town of Nadia district of west Bengal. It is about 90 km away from Kolkata and is well connected by road (NH- 34) and train.

The Raw Materials :

The raw materials are imported from Kolkata or the nearest market and some of the raw materials are obtained from NHDC .The raw materials contain yarns (both dyed and non-dyed) and dyes.

The Process :

Both dyeing and weaving is done in Shantipur. Weaving contains two types of process- the primary process and the secondary process. Before weaving and after dyeing a few processes are carried out Sizing, Drumming, setting the beam in the loom. And all these process take approximately 10 days before the actual weaving begin.

Motifs:

The most remarkable part of about the Jamdani weaving technique is that the motifs are not sketched or outlined on the fabric. Instead, they are drawn on a translucent graph paper and placed underneath the warp. Though Jamdani technique is famous for sarees, it is also used to make scarves, handkerchiefs and dupattas. Popular motifs include panna Hajar (thousand emeralds), kalka (paisley), butidar (small flowers), fulwar (flowers arranged in straight rows), tersa (diagonal patterns), jalar (motifs evenly covering the entire saree), duria (polka spots) and char- kona (rectangular motifs).

SWOT Analysis

Strengths

1. Handloom is an age old, perhaps the oldest surviving craft in India. Since thousands of years it has been a speciality of our country, recognised by the rest of the world
2. Exportable quality materials.
3. Can be used for making dress materials for the West.
4. Natural raw materials - Environment friendly - sustainable production process (cotton, linen, silk).
5. Dyeing facility - both natural & chemical dyeing done - all dyes used international standard.
6. Easy availability of raw materials.
7. Connection with local markets and Kolkata.

Opportunities

1. Government interventions to promote handloom and regulate quality, pricing, wages.
2. Female handloom co-operatives employ women can help them become self-sufficient and increase the number of weavers & artisans.
3. Institutes like NIFT, NID and other designers "interventions - increases interest of customers - Newer, modern, dynamic designs, motifs, fabric, weaves, colours & dyes,
4. Parallel industries like garment manufacture can help.
5. Diversified production - export interest - better earnings.
6. Marketing can increase demand.
7. Modernisation of dyeing unit - advanced technology like Hank-dyeing, Boiler & efficient treatmentplant.8. Increasing demand & trend for handlooms in recent times.

Weakness

1. Time taking process.
2. Lack of proper marketing channel.
3. Ignorance of the artisans about the markets of their products.
4. Inability to catch up with the fast pace of fashion - slower changes in motifs & designs compared to demands.

Threats

1. Increased production of similar looking power loom sarees at a lower price range n lesser time, more quantity.
2. Lack of Labour - weavers shifting toother professions due to less wages.
3. Middlemen exploiting the artisans. Insufficient loans and funding.
4. Present biggest challenge is theCOVID-19 pandemic.
5. Artisans suffer due to unemployment & lack of work & thus earnings stopped for months. Even now it is slow-paced.

Goopy Gyne Bagha Byne - Inspiration

Goopy Gyne Bagha Byne is a 1969 Indian fantasy adventure comedy film written and directed by Satyajit Ray .

It is a story of two character Gopi and Bagha who meet in a jungle being banished by the king of their village. They by Chance meet The king of Ghost and were given three boons for their simplicity and Innocence. Goopy Gyne Bagha Byne' has a very conventional good vs evil theme in terms of storytelling.

It is understandable that Ray wanted to maintain a breezy, light-hearted note so as to appeal to children. While it is a fantasy film for children, it is a film for all people as it has fun, comedy, beautiful lyrics, historical effects, unique costumes, great music and Its visuals also deserve a special mention. The film was shot mainly in Rajasthan, and many of the props and costumes.

The tunic and trouser set stands out as a key #destinationdressing item, according to the WGSN as well as a sophisticated take on the #resortwear story, offering a multitude of possibilities and combinations that appeal to the cost-conscious targeted consumer.

Vacay maxi

A style suitable for #staycations and beachy getaways, the maxi dress is the ultimate #vibrantvacation piece, fusing essential qualities for the post-pandemic consumer – comfort and versatility – without compromising on design hence perfect silhouette for S/S 22.

Volimunous Skirts

Comfort at the forefront and elasticated waistbands for ease of wear to appeal to a wide range of body types as we are targeting the Indian market can be a good trend to add in the collection. This trend again can be worn as a matching set or styled as individual piece to make it diverse in use making it relevant for hand loom.

The Poster by Ray

Here, we have analysed the movie poster that was designed by ray himself and taken inspiration from the poster to develop the folowing motifs. The poster has a particular style. The elements used in the poster are mainly geometric and the motifs are mainty created by utilizing the negative spaces.

Motif 1:

Motif 3:

Motif 2:

Borphi!

Barphi was such a character that became legendary in spite of it short time appreace in the movie. As the name suggests which literally means rhombus had his own unique style. These motifs are inspires from the look of barphi.

Motif 4:

Motif 5:

Motif 6:

These Brahmin ghost are not only interesting because of their appearace or the styling but also because of the amazing silhouettes. Ray has experimented a lot with the silhouettes.

Brahmin Ghost

The Laughing Shoes

These motifs are inpired from the iconic shoes that were portrayed in the movies. The special shoes that were gifted by the ghost king to the protagonist. These shoes are quite interesting with the twisted tips and the demonic eyes and teeth engraved or painted on the shoes.

Motif 6:

Motif 7:

Motif 6:

The Dancing Ghost

This motif is inspired from the interesting ghost figurines that were portrayed in the movie.

I have taken my theme for motif development as Gothic Architecture. Gothic architecture is an European style of architecture that values height and exhibits an intricate and delicate aesthetic. Though its roots are French, the Gothic approach can be found in churches, cathedrals, and other similar buildings in Europe and beyond. I have taken inspiration from the silhouettes, shapes, lines and forms of the different elements of gothic architecture and the colour palette seen on the buildings or stained glasses or gargoyles.

Material Board

Motif Explorations

The various elements of gothic architecture, like the arches, vaults, buttresses, spires, gargoyles, rose windows, stained glasses, etc. were studied and elements from them were traced and explored for the motif development. The derived elements were permuted and combined to develop the final motif silhouettes which were then finalized using the colour palette.

Mood and Concept note:

The project is set in the mood of La Princesa Rosa, which translates to the pink princess. It is about the power of pink and the gender associated with the colour most commonly- female. It takes inspiration from everything feminine to put forward the message that being feminine, being pink is not a set back, it does not signify weakness, rather the colour is so striking that it has its own powers, it catches attention, it stands out.
The silhouettes of the mini range of jackets are structured yet feminine, depicting the power as well as the flexible and fluid side of women.

ABOUT W

W is a premium fusion wear brand for women, which merges Indian and western sensibilities with an emphasis on distinctive design and styling. It is part of the fashion conglomerate TCNS CLOTHING CO. LIMITED, born in 2001.

W brings in trendy work and casual wear along with minimalistic occasion wear for the modern women of today, who are fashion conscious and like to set a trend. India does not have a standard size NF chart , so, W did Anthropometric studies in 2002, a complete body measurement to create a range of smarter and perfect fits.

They were the first to introduce 6 sizes in India when most were offering 3 sizes. Again in 2011, they revised the study and introduced the seventh size.

CLIENT BOARD

"She is not divided by age or season, but united by thoughts and consciousness."

PROJECT BRIEF

The project aims to revive the traditional heritage crafts through modern designs for the contemporary customers of today. Taking the craft of kantha and developing jamdani inspired motifs, we arrive at ensembles for the women, which are reimagination of these heritage craftsmanship.

Re-imagining kantha through the lens of jamdani

GEO NAISSANCE

Geo-Naissance means the birth from earth. The mood captures the essence of the things being born from earth, or all natural phenomenon. The motifs, silhouettes and details of the collection has its roots in the concept, expressed through colours, textures and forms.

SUSTAINABLE INDIAN BRAN FOR STUDY

UPASANA®
Auroville

Project brief

The project aims to study a sustainable fashion brand, here, Upasana, from Auroville. We analyse the brand ideologies, aims and styles to develop a range based on forecast for the brand, fusing with our personal interpretations and styles.

A theme is taken for the collection, and range is developed in a mood, in accordance with the forecast. Specification sheets along with anticipated cost sheets are prepared for the collection pieces.

Women from tsunami affected villages with the Tsunamika dolls they made

UPASANA®
Auroville

Upasana is a clothing company located in Auroville, Tamil Nadu, India. It was founded by fashion designer, Uma Prajapati in 1997.

Upasana started with ₹2,000 under the tree that today shades her glass-façade store. Representing India through textiles was the primary goal.

It is a place where creativity, fashion, design, Indian culture, business, social responsibility and spiritual progress get woven seamlessly together.

Known for many unique projects for mankind and soul, the most well-known is the Tsunamika dolls project for women who were affected by the Tsunami. The brand designs and produces garments in Indian silhouettes with contemporary elements to it. The silhouettes are mostly voluminous, free flowing, breathable and gives an aesthetical feeling of comfort. The brand uses ruffles and flares, mix and match of fabrics, pleats and tucks and plays with pegs to create its aesthetics.

The brand produces scarves, stole and handbags apart from garments, all following their 'zero-waste' philosophy. It features creative pattern making and most uniquely the textiles used make the products connected to the earth and rooted to our country overall.

BRAND IDEOLOGY

The brand believes that Clothing has the power to change lives, of farmers, spinners, weavers, printers, tailors, designers and many more who have invisibly woven their souls into what we wear. Upasana honours them all, consciously, at every stage of crafting the products. Like the ideas of life in Auroville, Shifting fashion to touch the soul instead of just the body, as life is interconnected- Beauty is beyond vanity. The process of creation is as precious as giving a beautiful product. They honour flaws in weaving as part of honouring life, streak of shade in dye as part of natural shades. They silently celebrate the fading of natural dyes as we gracefully watch ourselves change through time. They design for mortality while honouring life, nature and inner growth.

- The fabric woven out of hand spun yarn on handlooms is called “khadi”, while mill spun yarn woven on handlooms are called “handloom” fabrics. India has more than 500 specialised handloom weaving clusters spread across the country, the brand is working with some of these clusters to ensure they sustain their livelihood and to produce clothes that are environmentally conscious.
- Along with indigo, the brand uses a range of natural dyes in its clothes like sandalwood and tulsi.
- Organic cotton, that is grown without use of any chemical fertilizers, is used by the brand.
- Upasana also works with hand-block clusters around the country and makes sure to encourage craftsmen to continue pursuing their skill.
- They create art wear with resources that are traditionally considered as waste. To them fashion is a zero waste space.

DEVI

The one who creates the world, is the one who destroys the evil

The Theme of this collection celebrates the divine power of womanhood. The collection pays tribute to all women, who create and all the powerful women who shatter the evil in society- through every form of their existence, through their smile and their eyes, their mind and their soul. The range is about pride in being a woman.

MOOD BOARD WITH COLOUR STORY

Dusk is that time of the day, all living organisms look forward to for retiring for the day. It's the time the birds fly back to the nests, animals return to shelters and humans return home from daily work. These are the hours of the day that signal us to relax and refresh our minds from all the stress and exhaustion of the long day. The sky and scenery turns picturesque with lovely colours lighting up for us to smile and rest.

The mood of the collection is based on "MEETING DUSK", a concept inspired from the retiring hours of the day. The collection features garments in lovely colours, that have elements of trends forecasted for SPRING/SUMMER 2022, is in the mood of DUSK hours and celebrates the power of womanhood through the theme DEVI.
